U11 moving to U13

- The major change at this level is U13 has a AAA level which plays in a provincial league. Evaluation for this level is a separate process and begins prior to regular U13 evaluations
- The commitment to the AAA team is increased in all aspects of hockey i.e. travel, fundraising, and attendance
- At rep level composition of teams can be 4-5 teams based upon number of registrants and competitiveness of teams. They will participate in CMHF at AA, A and B levels.
- At C level the number of teams is 3-4 playing in DRRL

U13 moving to 15

- The major change at this level is there is a U15 Major Bantam league with funnels some players from the DWMHA. This team is Dartmouth Whalers Major Bantam but it is not affiliated with DWMHA
- At the rep level DWMHA supports teams at AA, A and B levels. The number of teams will depend upon registration and competitiveness
- Rep teams participate in CMHF
- Like other levels similar commitments are required by players and parents
- At C level DWMHA support 3-4 teams based on registration and participate in DRRL

U15 moving to U18

- This level is a moving target
- With 3 high schools drawing up to 60 players and another high school having 5-10 players on their rosters it places DWMHA in a precarious situation
- Also U18 Major and U16 AAA take another group of players who would have been in the DWMHA at previous age groups
- Supporting U18 rep has been a challenge and until registration numbers are confirmed no decisions can be made
- U18 C has 3-4 teams at this level to participate in DRRL

U18 moving to U23

- Maybe the best kept secret of minor hockey
- For players who are leaving U18 and are interested in playing hockey in a non contact environment
- There are no practices for the most part, just games
- The team plays in Metro Minor Hockey League and has a team from Acadia Minor as part of the group
- Games are normally later at night. DWMHA have their home games Monday evening at RBC at 9:30. Games are 3 periods, 15 min in length
